

FEBRUARY 2018

“Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God.” – Romans 13:1

“But Peter and John answered them, “Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge, for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard.”—Acts 4:19-20

Dear Friends,

What do we do when governments and authorities do things that appear to be contrary to what is right? The answer is not easy, but our Advocates face this question frequently.

As we shared over the past few months, Nepal’s government passed a new anti-conversion law which essentially criminalizes Christianity. Thanks for your continued prayers for our colleagues in Nepal as they continue to seek ways to keep that law from coming into effect on August 1, 2018. And Nepal is not the only country facing such laws.

Just this past month, Bolivia adopted a law which states in part that “recruiting people to take part in armed conflicts or in religious or faith organizations” is punishable with a 7 to 12 years prison sentence, plus fines.

Although the purpose of the new law may have a reasonable basis in preventing human trafficking, its language is imprecise and vague enough that it could easily be misused to attack churches that local governing authorities dislike. The law doesn’t go into effect for 17 months, so between now and then, our advocates will be addressing this with the Bolivian government: This law is in clear violation of human rights conventions which Bolivia has endorsed.

Of course, other similar laws around the world would fill pages. And this is where the strength of Advocates International comes into play. Advocates from many places all working together can help provide vital legal protections for the Church.

When we have the opportunity and capacity to reason with lawmakers to build guardrails that protect, rather than simply allow laws that could lead to horrible consequences for people of faith, we must always take steps to do so. Our network of lawyers is equipped and enabled to defend the Church from within the legal system. Your prayers in supporting this work are equally effective and vital.

To further equip and enable our network of lawyers, Advocates International is planning to launch the AI Institute for Christian Legal Studies (ICLS) in 2018, prompted by the work of Professor Pat Talbot, who has been teaching law in Indonesia for the past several years.

Although the number of Christian law fellowships continues to increase around the world, local members frequently lack a Christian worldview, or the skills and resources to address the societal issues facing their countries. The ICLS will multiply the impact of these advocates in their local chapters by (1) discipling and equipping them with resources on a Biblical Worldview of law and justice; (2) developing resources for and encouraging service in one of AI's 7 Global Resource Teams; and (3) providing professional development training to enhance their legal skills to be more effective in serving Christ in their communities.

However, we will need extraordinary financial provision to launch the Institute. In addition, back in November, we started our Encourage & Enable Campaign to raise scholarships to bring young lawyers and law students to one of AI's conferences. To date, we've raised about $1,500 towards our goal of $15,500, and we hope that you'll seriously consider making a special gift designated to help us disciple and train the next generation of Advocates leaders.

In closing, we at AI would like to affirm that, despite the US President's recent comments that disparaged multiple nations, we work closely with many friends from these countries, and we are proud of the work they do in difficult circumstances. They are the salt and light in places that can be dark, showing the love of Jesus through their lives every day. They deserve our prayer support and friendship.

Finally, to help you in praying with us for our Advocates across the globe, we've enclosed our Prayer Calendar listing key national leaders throughout the network. They are grateful for your prayer support, as are we.

Thank you again for your continued prayers and your financial investment. When challenges arise, your support helps us to encourage, enable and equip advocates to Do Justice with Compassion, especially when they face laws that pose challenges to spreading the Gospel of Jesus.

May the Lord bless and keep you in His perfect . . .

Grace and Peace,

Brent M. McBurney
President & CEO
